FRIDAY, AUG. 4, 1905.

The brown-tail moth and caterpillar have begun their second year's campaign and are now laying their eggs for another season's crop. Are your trees protected?

It is said that Bryan is going on a long foreign trip "to bring back what we can of good government." As most foreign countries have abandoned the 16 to 1 standard let us hope he will really find something new and good.

Some people are never satisfied unless the sub-shines, but notwithstanding the chronic kickers on the weather the past week has been a remarkably good one. The precipitation which was so needed has come, fields and gardens have been revived and we all take a new lease of life.

The Massachusetts Agricultural college will start the new year with the largest membership in its history which may mean a reclaiming of much of our waste and unprofitable land. A large part of our acreage is unused and much of the money which goes abroad might be kept at home by a more general cultivation of our fields.

Elsewhere in these columns may be found a chapter on taxes which will be of interest to every person in town. The expected has happened and the only consolation is we are not alone. Nearly every town and city in the state has met the same fate; the increase in some towns being from $3.00 to $1.00 bringing up tax rates much higher than those of Weymouth.

"It is said that 50 per cent of this year's graduating class at Vassar are engaged to be married. A girl has no trouble in being engaged to be married, whether intended purchasers or otherwise.

PET CAVIES.

A Clever and Interesting Animal. All Kinds and Nearly All Colors.

On Laurel street, East Weymouth, is probably the finest and largest collection of these pet animals to be found in this section, and a visit to the "Laurel Cavyary," owned and managed by Charles II. Bell, would convince the most skeptical that these queer and clever little pets are not only pretty in their color and parti-colors, but are also all the way from a short, smooth-haired specimen to a six inch long-haired "Peruvian," and the grotesque "Abyssinian" whose hair is in rossets an inch or more long and stands out in all directions.

The pens are arranged in tiers of four pens high and four pens wide, making in all sixteen pens, and here one finds the smooth-haired in one section, consisting of red, white, black and gray, the solid colors and a beautiful solid color called the Golden Agouti. Then the parti-colors where one animal may have three or more colors all combined, each kind kept in separate pens. On another row we find the "Abyssinian" in various colors and still farther along the "Peruvians" which are the usually hairless variety, and this usually attracts the attention of their long waving tresses and the wonderful way the hair grows out on the head of the animal, almost completely hiding the ears and eyes and making one wonder whether the animal is walking forwards or backwards.

Each kind has a little pen and a cute little nest box in one corner of the pen, and a dish of water to drink. They are fed hay, oats, carrots, apples, hard bread, and in the summer, grass, clover, plantain leaves, etc.

They are easily cared for and are quite a fad with Mr. Bell who has made quite a study of them and can answer anyone who calls who has been a fancier or dealer or just a lover of pets. He has just received additional supplies of fancy cavy from the well known "Cavary of Brookton," who make a specialty of solid-color smooths. The cavary is kept by Mr. Beare's brother, George H. Beare of Brookton, formerly a resident of East Weymouth.

The Cloverdale stock has won many blue ribbons at the Brockton fair in the last few years in competition with other fanciers, and the Laurel Co. feel gratified to receive this fancy stock and would be pleased to show them to any visitors, whether intended purchasers or otherwise.

Sad and Fatal Play With Pistol.

One of the saddest accidents which has happened in town for many years, occurred on Monday afternoon at Weymouth Heights.

Fred De Young, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph De Young, of Norton street, was accidentally shot by his playmate, Arthur Delovery, at the Delovery house about one o'clock.

The boy had been playing together in the morning with an old unloaded revolver, but later prodded some shot from a store in Weymouth, and then began to play with it, again this time loaded.

While Delovery was handling it, it was discharged and entered De Young's body about three inches below the heart. He was carried home and a few hours later taken to Carney hospital, where an operation was performed. The bullet could not be extricated and the little fellow passed away a few hours later.

The funeral services were held Thursday day at St. Jerome church.

The family have the sympathy of the whole community in their sudden bereavement.

TAX STATISTICS.

The work of the assessors is so far completed as to enable us to give the following statistics for which we are indebted to them, and we annex comparative figures of just ten years ago to show where the increase comes in.

State Tax.	$8,560.00
County Tax.	$7,216.74
Town Grant.	$141,148.32
Park Tax.	$3,533.05
State Highway.	$3,45.46
Total.	$169,901.62
	1895.
State Tax.	$4,095.00
County Tax.	$6,533.05
Town Grant.	$108,494.72
Total.	$119,227.77

There has been something of a gain in real estate but that has been nearly or quite offset by a loss in personal property which came largely in closing up the Union bank.

The above figures give us a tax rate of $22.30 on a $1,000.

POST TAX STATISTICS.

We give in this connection the Post Tax figures for the current year and comparative figures for 1905.

As the horses stopped instinctively at the willows beside the stream the girl turned to her father with an encouraging smile. But at sight of the man she shrank to tense time. Her happiness she would have brushed him, but he beat her passage.

"Is it you?" she queried.

"As the horses stopped instinctively at the willows beside the stream the girl turned to her father with an encouraging smile. But at sight of the man she shrank to tense time. Her happiness she would have brushed him, but he beat her passage."

"What is it? I've not heard that!" she cried. "Oh, God, and I have worked so hard!"

"Then she sat in the doorway, and Dr. Byrne, shaking his eyes with his hand, led her into the darkened room. His voice was low and comforting.

"It came so suddenly, though I have seen it shadowed for weeks, dear. There was no time to take up a chain and manage a ranch on top of the mountain capital than—"

"She looked at him in mute inquiry.

"I thought best to say this before you, father, but you must not mind of resuming your journey. He would never survive the rough roads, and the rare air on top of the Divide would certainly bring on another hemorrhage."

"Then you mean that we can never go into the mountains?"

"I am afraid so, in the question, and the doctor has stated."

"I believe the disappointment would kill him," she continued. "Ever since we got that first railroad through, he has been content on his ranch, getting wild and strong and working hard. We've taken the La Junta banner for six months, and we know just where we want to live and how to file our claim. Oh, we must go on!"

"Well, for the present you had better stop here and let your father recuperate, and then go up to the cooler. At this rate, there is a tidy two room shack right back of my office. The rent is cheap, and I can keep an eye on him until he is in shape to travel. It won't do to let him sleep here, on the river edge, even in a cabin. We must have a doctor, and the doctor encouraged by the girl, who stood watching him with wide open, frightened eyes.

So, all unwillingly, did the Murdocks take up their residence in the shack.

The hot bustle of July merged into the quiet hum of August, and one day in the freshening breath of September Henry Murdock tottered to the postoffice for the La Junta banner.

—A horse was led by Charles Lovell took him away, and the occupants believed two children, Frank and Mary.

Frank was quite badly hurt and was unable to walk for a few days, otherwise he fortunately escaped.

Frank Tirrell has moved into the house recently remodeled by Robert White. It was Holbrook's manufacturing shop, corner of Pleasant and Washington streets.

—The Porter K. of P. entertained the Uniform Rank at the Porter association rooms Tuesday night. Supper was served at eight o'clock, after which speeches were made. The drill which was to have taken place, was obliged to be postponed on account of the inclemency of the weather.

—Mrs. Lucinda Pratt who was reported as improving is quite seriously ill.

"The nights are cold. There is always frost in the mountains?"

"But you said when it was cooler, you persisted."

He led her to the window and pointed silently to the distant mountains where even in the moonlight she could see those who were made well; where and this was the best of all—starved, weak lungs were fed and strengthened. The Murdocks knew all sympathizing with them in adversity. They lived in Fort Simpson, but their hearts were in La Junta. And now only the Divide, with its pitiless attitude stood between them and this promising future, which they had built with their own hands.

That night after her father had fallen into a troubled sleep she footed up their account book. They had lived so simply, yet little remained. If they sold the horses, they might reach the valley by mule teams, and without horses they could they farm?

She rose impulsively and hurried to Dr. Byrne's office. He received her with undisguised pleasure. Of late he had felt that his services were not needed, and he feared that they might ignore his obvious attempts to "drop in" socially as professional calls clearly paid.

"Father seems stronger today. Don't you think he can stand the journey without help?"

"He rhyme spoke his head."

"The nights are cold. There is always frost in the mountains?"

"But you said when it was cooler, you persisted."

—Charles Belcher who purchased the Simon Gallant place is now staying it.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Swift of Cambridge, Sunday, with their grandchildren, Miss Carrie and Harriet Holbrook of Brookton.

Dr. Byrne tried to take her hot hands in his, but she drew away from him.

"My dear girl, you are well and strong. For you the overland journey is safe."

Dr. Miles' Nervine Completely Cured Me.

A frequent complication of rheumatism is constipation. The use of Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills in conjunction with his Nervine is a safe and effective remedy for such cases. The Nerve Liver Pills, by their tonic influence upon the nerves of the spinal column, tend to relax them so automatically. Thus they easily clean off the impurities which accumulate in the body. The relaxing effect of Nerve is allowed to do its wonderful work of restoration while hindrance to it is removed. This was complicated by chronic indigestion. I had sick headaches every day with a dull pain in my head. I was extremely nervous and suffered from constipation. It was induced by the use of laxatives. I procured a bottle of the Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and took them a trifle at a time. I procured much relief. I continued the Nerve and Liver Pills until I cured myself completely and permanently. Now I eat well and feel well. I am without trouble in recommending Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills. —Rev. A. M. WEYMOUTH, - MASS.
M. E. HAWES,
Editor and Manager.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH
MASS., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, AUG. 11, 1905.

We are great people, with great shops, great buildings, and a lot of other great things, but it is about time to call a halt on blowing our big horn to the peace envys and let them settle down to business and earn their $200 a day.

John D. Rockefeller may be elected mayor of his home city, Cleveland, but in the mean time, while the campaign is on, some people will say things of him which are not pretty.

Admiral Charles E. Clark passed the age limit yesterday and is now a retired officer of the U. S. navy, but while he himself is retired, his fame and heroism in connection with the battleship Oregon can never retire and will always stand as one of the most heroic and well-executed feats of modern times.

In Mexico nine men constitute a jury, a majority can decide a case and when decision is unanimous there is no appeal. There may be times when this would work an evil but judging by the large number of murders and other high crimes which are now hung up in this state for final decision, it would be well to try it.

The Medford Mercury is giving its readers fine illustrations of the work of gypsies and brown tail moths and good advice as to their treatment. In Weymouth the moths are illustrating their own work and too many people are indifferent in regard to the situation. Every man should destroy the nests as fast as they appear on his place and the whole street gang should be put on the job of destroying those on the roadside. There are some other things which can wait awhile.

The Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society are in the field this year much earlier than usual with their annual fair but it does not follow that there will be any less attractions unless it be in the vegetable and fruit line which will not be quite so far along some instances. The managers have made the present arrangement in order to have Labor Day included in the program and also to hold the difficulty which has often led to the holding of two or more fairs in the same vicinity at the same time. The fair is only three weeks away and it is none to early to begin to put in work which will make the fair a success. There will be many new features, above all let us demonstrate that Weymouth is a good town for manufacturers and field products. See ad. elsewhere in this issue.

Enrolled Mills.

The enrolled militia of the town, according to last reports is 2,093 men. This number is divided among the various wards as follows:—Ward 1, 277; Ward 2, 750; Ward 3, 475; Ward 4, 276; Ward 5, 314.

Abraham S. Bates Dead.

Abraham S. Bates of Middle St., Weymouth Center, was the third of a party of neighbors and friends who have been intimate for many years, to pass away within twenty-four hours of each other on Monday.

Mr. Bates was a son of Joseph Bates, was born near the place which has always been his home, and had lived a few weeks more would have been 80 years of age.

Decedent was a man whom to know was to love and respect, and his memory will be cherished by all who have ever had occasion to associate with him.

For a number of years he has been unable to take an active part in society matters on account of a shock which rendered him somewhat helpless, but in his earlier days he took an active part in society matters and was one of the most constant attendants at the meetings of Orphans Hope Lodge, F. & A. M.

Funeral services were held at his late home on Middle street Thursday afternoon and were largely attended by relatives and friends and by Orphans Hope Lodge. Rev. W. H. Butler was the officiating clergyman and the Haylin quartette added several choice selections to the service.

The remains were escorted to the Old North cemetery by Orphans Hope lodge where Masonic services were performed by W. M. F. H. Torrey and Chaplain M. E. Hawes.

The mourners were Michael McGrath representing neighbors; George D. Wier, the Methodist church and E. G. Bates and Bela P. French, Orphans Hope Lodge.

Mr. Bates was twice married and leaves a widow and four sons, Everett E., Abbott C., George L. and Willard H.

Condition of Crops.

Crop conditions have greatly improved since the last report was written, due to precipitation of the last two days of the week ending July 31st and the first few days of the past week. Corn and potatoes show the greatest improvement, as at last report they were in a somewhat serious condition owing to lack of moisture. The former is now generally in a normal condition. While the nights have been rather cool, the low temperature has not been a great hindrance to the development of crops.

Grass—the hay harvest was practically completed during July, but a few reports indicate that late fields were harvested the past week. Second-crop grass has not shown to good advantage previously, but an improved condition is now noticeable, owing to recent rains. Pastures which last week were dry and brown from lack of moisture, have greatly improved and fall feed is fully assured in nearly all sections.

Fruit—No decided change has taken place in the condition of fruit in the past week. Berries of all kinds, with the single exception of blueberries, are quite plentiful. Peaches and pears will be fall crops, but apple reports are still very favorable, and show a decidedly poor crop.

VEGETABLES.—Vegetables of all kinds show marked improvement, due to the rainfall of the past week just ended. Potatoes and onions show the greatest benefit. The marketing of garden truck is quite general; cabbages, carrots, parsnips, beets, set onions, etc., coming in large quantities.

J. W. SMITH,
Section Director, Boston, Mass.

Mrs. Susan Stevens Dead.
After a series of failing health incidents passed away at her home on Commercial Street, East Weymouth last Saturday afternoon.

Decedent was a daughter of Isaac and Susan French and was born in East Weymouth 56 years ago. Although but little known for the past few years, during her earlier and middle life few people in town were better known or more highly appreciated than she. She inherited and cultivated a musical ability far beyond the average and was well known as one of the best solo singers in the vicinity. She early identified herself with the Methodist church and as long as physical condition would permit was an active worker in the church and society work. Mr. Stevens passed away several years ago but his widow continued on in the old home and for a number of years has had as associate and companion, a sister, Miss Eliza M. French.

Funeral services were held at the house Monday afternoon and were largely attended by friends and relatives who brought many rare and beautiful tributes. Rev. W. H. Butler of the M. E. church officiated and a quartette composed of Mrs. Geo. W. Baker, Miss Ella May Raymond, W. H. Pratt and M. P. Gieseke gave the following selections: "Face to Face," "Never Fear God to These," and "Passing Out of the Shadow."

Mrs. Mary Ann Cushing Dead.
Although having nearly rounded out four score years, Mrs. Mary Ann, widow of the late Francis H. Cushing, was attending to her usual household and social duties a week ago, but on Sunday was taken with a severe attack of indigestion and in a few hours passed away.

Mrs. Cushing was a daughter of Jeremiah Shaw and was born in Weymouth. Decedent married Francis H. Cushing who preceded her to the great beyond but a few years ago and her home has since then been in Weymouth, or more definitely Weymouth Center. Mrs. Cushing was a woman whom to whom we will never know one who was always kind and sympathetic and one who never seemed to help a friend here where it was needed. Her society relations were with the Congregational church and Reynolds W. H. both of which she took a deep interest in.

She leaves one son Weston W. Cushing, a brother Chester Shaw, and a sister Mrs. Harriet Arnold, and a large circle of friends and neighbors to mourn her departure.

Funeral services were held at her late home Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Ralph J. Huntington, assisted by a quartette composed of Mrs. T. H. Emerson, Miss Susie E. Raymond, T. H. Emerson and M. P. Gieseke who sang "Come Unto Me," "Gathering Home," and "Sleep Thy Last Sleep."

Reynolds Relief Corp. attended in a body and performed the usual burial ritual. There was a profusion of floral tributes and the burial was at Fairmount cemetery.

Naval Magazine.

The movement of the United States government for a naval magazine on the Atlantic coast has taken a more definite form this week, and as far as is known for the last time, Back river is the place.

Melvin O. Adams, United States district attorney, brought a petition in the federal court at Boston on Monday for the condemnation of nearly 1000 acres of land on each side of the Weymouth Back River, where the government under act of Congress approved April 27, 1904, will establish the magazine.

The Commonwealth, through an act of the last Legislature, has assented to the acquisition by the federal government of this land and control of the adjacent tideswater.

The land the government wants borders the Weymouth Back river. There are 708 acres in Weymouth and 297 in Weymouth, making a total of 945 acres. The Weymouth land, all of which lies on the western side of the river, includes the island known as Whale Island and the flats adjacent.

The Hingham land is a strip bordering the east side of the river, beginning at the junction of the Weymouth Back river and the Fresh river and extending to the Hingham bridge.

Notice, which may be found elsewhere in this issue, has been served on the several owners of these parcels of land this week and it is expected the work will begin in the near future.

March of a New Idea.
It is announced that Victoria, the last of the Australian states to grant full suffrage to women, has at length accorded.

This is a fresh illustration of the tendency of a new idea to run through a series of neighboring communities, as the measles will run through a whole family when one child catches it.

New Zealand left off giving women the full ballot in 1883. South Australia did so in 1895, West Australia in 1900, and New South Wales in 1902. In 1903 Tasmania and Queensland followed, like sheep over a wall; and the last remaining Australian state, Victoria, has now fallen into line.

A similar series has been observable with municipal suffrage in Great Britain. In 1869 that right was granted to the women of England; in 1881 of Scotland; and in 1893, with practically no opposition, the women of Ireland were given a vote for all officers except members of Parliament.

The course of events in our own country has been much the same. The first American state to grant full suffrage to women was Wyoming, in 1869, and the three other states that have since followed the example all close to Wyoming, a solid block, and all bordering upon one another.

Equal suffrage evidently does not lead to the desired results prophesied by its opponents, or we should not find that the communities nearest to those where it prevails are the ones which successively adopt it.

Notice and Warning.
Notice is hereby given to owners, occupiers and all other persons interested in lands, buildings, etc., for the condemnation of lands for a United States naval magazine at Hingham and Weymouth have been this day begun in the United States District court for the district of Massachusetts. Said lands are fully described in the petition for condemnation filed by the United States attorney in the office of the clerk of said court.

All persons at present lawfully occupying said lands will be permitted to remain thereon until further notice.

All persons are hereby warned not to commit any trespass upon said lands and occupants thereof are to do nothing and earnestly requested not to do anything which may injure to land, buildings, trees, etc. It is earnestly hoped that all persons will observe the wish as well as the letter of this notice and warning.

Admiral U. S. Navy,
Commandant, Navy Yard and Station

VIENNA.

[By Frank B. Cressy.]
It is an experience to leave Venice, an experience to cross the Italian-Austrian frontier, an experience to journey to Vienna via the Semmering Pass.

The distance from Venice to Vienna is 404 miles. To make it by daylight, with only an hour of darkness thrown in for good measure, required an early start from the station. The hotel which man did his calling duty at night, but it seemed as though the railroad would never get there. They were so slow in coming, so slow in starting. And yet, that gray dawn, the day was delightful as one's eyes which gave no signs of life, and a forty-foot square garden of trees where an English sparrow was trying to either waken its mate or bid good bye to the American traveler.

The station reached and the boatmen paid (twenty-two cents for a mile ride), the train was soon off, pushing northward as if in search of cooler weather, or a different civilization. At 10:40, "Pointe fe!" yelled the guard, and evidence of evacuation as to the Italian train was apparent to the eye. Baggage was seized at the baggage owner, said something which the baggage owner could understand even while he looked and spoke clapped a customs' label on the baggage, and a minute later the baggage owner was in an Austrian car, and mentally resigned to almost any Austrian experience which might come his way.

Much has been intended in these letters to the value of Italy and Italians. The country is charming; the people are industrious, liberally loving, patriotic, and since 1870 the country has made wonderful advance as a nation. Italy is strong and her people are entitled to the respect and governmental encouragement of the world. None the less, and it is not creditable to Italy to say of her necessary experiences before 1870, that she could become "Emperor of Mexico," but who went there out of the spirit of adventure? It was against a ruler who was captured, stood against a road and shot to death like a common brigand. It was impossible for this correspondent not to say that particular casket, and repeat from his heart, "Poor, mistaken Carlotta," wandering and repeating still as far as possible, "Poor, mistaken Maximilian." And then his wife, "Poor Maximilian." Then and his wife, "Poor Maximilian," wandering and repeating still as far as many in hopeless lunacy, "My dear Max, is not dead; he'll come again." In the Capuchin church cellar there must be nearly a hundred of these caskets lying on the crowded floor, the most of them in rows with heads against the wall.

Aside from the sarcophagi of Maria Theresa, and three or four others, the caskets are all severely plain—simply great copper boxes seven feet long, three feet square at the head, and gradually tapering to two feet square at the foot. Such is the casket of the late Empress Elizabeth, assassinated a few years ago, and on which a few days ago the visiting Shah of Persia laid a wreath of flowers. Such, also, the casket of Maximilian, the man whom Napoleon, during American Civil War, deluded into the thought that he could become "Emperor of Mexico," but who went there out of the spirit of adventure? It was against a ruler who was captured, stood against a road and shot to death like a common brigand. It was impossible for this correspondent not to say that particular casket, and repeat from his heart, "Poor, mistaken Carlotta," wandering and repeating still as far as possible, "Poor, mistaken Maximilian." She leaves one son Weston W. Cushing, a brother Chester Shaw, and a sister Mrs. Harriet Arnold, and a large circle of friends and neighbors to mourn her departure.

Funeral services were held at her late home Wednesday afternoon and were conducted by Rev. Ralph J. Huntington, assisted by a quartette composed of Mrs. T. H. Emerson, Miss Susie E. Raymond, T. H. Emerson and M. P. Gieseke who sang "Come Unto Me," "Gathering Home," and "Sleep Thy Last Sleep."

Reynolds Relief Corp. attended in a body and performed the usual burial ritual.

There was a profusion of floral tributes and the burial was at Fairmount cemetery.

Colonial Theatre.

Kirk & Ettinger's great New England spectacle, "The Pearl and the Pumpkin," is nearing the end of its immensely successful engagement at the Colonial theatre in Boston. It will be presented for a long run. This elaborate entertainment, justly termed the most popular of all productions past or present, will be witnessed in no other city in New England than Boston, and the coming week afford people of this section of the country their only opportunity to enjoy the most extraordinary spectacle of the century.

"The Pearl and the Pumpkin," with its gorgeous costuming, its marvelous scenes ranging from the green hills of Vermont to the lily fields of Bermuda, and its brilliant cast of famous actors, forms an entertainment that is unique, novel, and splendid will probably never be duplicated.

Northern Italy is not destitute of mountains, tunnels, and scenery which hold the attention and stir the soul. But Southern Austria, between Venice and Vienna, is in these things the richer of the two. This especially when the Semmering Pass is approached and crossed.

On the 19th, after which the big production will be taken intact to the Broadway theatre, New York, where it will be presented for a long run. This elaborate entertainment, justly termed the most popular of all productions past or present, will be witnessed in no other city in New England than Boston, and the coming week afford people of this section of the country their only opportunity to enjoy the most extraordinary spectacle of the century.

It is the most unique and magnificent production ever seen before the public, and it is the sensation of Boston.

Those who are fortunate enough to witness it will never forget it, and it will repay a long trip to Boston. It is impossible of description, so quaint, charming, and thoroughly enjoyable it is, and it must be seen to be appreciated. Then the beholder will in voluntary remark, "What next?"

Orders for seats from out-of-town will receive prompt attention from the manager of the Colonial theatre, Boston, to whom they should be addressed, accompanied by post office or express order.

The scale of prices for the extraordinary attraction is $1.00, $1.00, 75, 50, 35 cents, all seats reserved and the choicer locations will be mailed patrons.

PLACES AND SARCOPHAGI.

Speaking still of the emperor, it was an experience of delight to visit his summer palace, Schön Brunn by name, within the city's limits. The far-reaching grounds of the palace, with its majestic groves, well trimmed hedges, beautiful flowers, sprawling terraces, and terraced roads, are open to the people at large as the public highway outside, and nowhere was there a hindering soldier or policeman to be seen. The emperor loves his people, the people love his emperor.

Fifty-two years ago his life was attempted and there the people have erected the votive church, one of the largest and perhaps the handsomest gothic church in all the world—this an expression of gratitude that the would-be assassin had been so lucky.

When grounds are neglected and decayed and a house goes to decay, it does not take long for a rustic population to give it a bad name and connect a ghost with it. It was so in this case. Once a couple of boys reported seeing a man's face at one of the lower windows, and the story passed for what it was worth. Only a few people would have it that the house was haunted, but all seemed to tacitly agree that it was a good place to keep away from.

One of the heart of the city stands the Capuchin church, a building destined of all suggestion of architectural beauty, grandeur, and withal unsightly in appearance of age. Yet, the basement of this church is the crypt for hundreds of years past. Visitors, in numbers of a dozen or twenty, are freely admitted under the management of a monk in the brown garb of his order, who quietly indicates in German the various caskets and their contents.

Aside from the sarcophagi of Maria Theresa, and three or four others, the caskets are all severely plain—simply great copper boxes seven feet long, three feet square at the head, and gradually tapering to two feet square at the foot. The battle of ballots is drawing nearer lies in two or more well balanced parties ought to come to the front.

"Peace on Earth, Good Will to Men" was sung by the angels which hovered over Bethlehem nearly two thousand years ago, but as Boston was not on earth at that time and was subsequently located so far away from the birthplace of the Christ child, it is now necessary when the city government meets to have in attendance a force of police men to club them into peace.

POT HUNTERS.

A pot hunter is generally supposed to be a man who will shoot anything from a chuck-dee to a robin in order to get something for a pot dinner. It is a business which has grown quite extensively within the past few years and the Legislature of last winter wisely enacted the following law:

(Chap. 317.)

AN ACT TO PROVIDE FOR GRANTING TO UNIVERSAL, FOREIGN-BORN PERSONS
LICENCES TO HUNT.

Be it enacted, etc., as follows:

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any unnaturalized, foreign-born person to hunt anywhere within the limits of the Commonwealth, unless he is licensed to do so as hereinafter provided.

Sec. 2. Clerical town clerks shall upon the application of any unnaturalized foreign-born person who is a resident of the city or town in which the application is made, and upon the payment of a fee of fifteen dollars, issue to such person a license, upon a form to be supplied by the commissioners on fisheries and game, bearing the name, age and place of residence of the licensee, with a description of him, as near as may be, and authorizing the said licensee to hunt and to kill game on any lands in which such hunting or killing is not forbidden by law or by written or printed notices posted thereon by the owner, lessee or occupant thereof.
Such license shall be good only for that period of the year when game may fully be killed, and shall not include the hunting or killing of game only under such restrictions as for such purposes are imposed or authorized by law.

The said license not to be transferable and shall be exhibited upon demand to any of the commissioners, on fisheries and game, or their deputies, and to any game warden or deputy game warden, and to any sheriff, constable, police officer or other officer qualified to serve process. The fees received for the said licenses shall annually be paid into the treasury of the Commonwealth.

Sec. 3. A license granted hereunder shall be revoked by the city or town clerk issuing the same in case the licensee is convicted of a violation of the fish and game laws, or of hunting upon Sunday in violation of law.

Sec. 4. It shall be the duty of the commissioners on fisheries and game, upon request by any city or town clerk,
to supply such clerk with license forms prepared in accordance with the provisions of this act.

Sec. 5. Whoever violates any provision of this act shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than fifty dollars. Approved, April 27, 1905.

HIGHLAND PARK.

Highland Park has had a most successful week owing to the great musical comedy entitled "When Lucifer Comes to Town." This play has made a great hit in every park where it has appeared this summer, and there is no wonder, for it is the most comical, jolly and brilliant piece ever presented. The scene in which the old country uncle finds his young nephew in New York, is a great one.

"The Dazzler" will be the coming attraction and it bids fair to be the best yet. The play gives an opportunity for a lot of good artists to display their individual talents which they will do to perfection. Most all of the characters have had leading parts the past winter in many well known companies, and it is expected that large crowds will appear at the park with their appearance. The comedy band will which will be the great attraction.

The play will be given afternoons and evenings at Highland Park for one week commencing August 21st.

WEYMOUTH BASE BALL.

Deweys—Norfolks.
One of the largest base ball audiences of the season witnessed a contest between the Deweys and Norfolks at the fair grounds South Weymouth. Cate as usual twirled the ball for the Deweys and confounded the Norfolks to one lonely base hit and Martell helped him behind the bat as did also Spooner, Orr and others in the field.

White did the usual honor of pitching for the Norfolks and kept batters guessing. The catching of Quinn and field work of Philbrook and Loun won the approbation of the bleachers and following is the game.

From present indications Col. S. O.
Bigney of Attleboro will have a clear lead for nomination as councillor in the 2d district.

At this time, when the office is open after the retirement of the man who has held it for three years, it is unusual to find but one candidate in the field, the reason is quite apparent. Col. Bigney is a staunch republican, a liberal democrat to his party, an energetic and active man.
He has not sought the office but has been urged by his neighbors and friends because they believe he has all the qualities of head and heart to discharge the duties reditably to the district. He has had experience in both state and national affairs, as a member of the Republican State Committee he has been active in the interests of the party, as a delegate to the last National Convention he has become acquainted with the leaders throughout the country; as a representative of New England at Washington in opposition to the French treaty, which aimed a blow at the jewelry and other industries, his earnest plea arguments and facts con-

WEYMOUTH GAZETTE.

PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY THE
GAZETTE PUBLISHING COMPANY,
(W.M.C. CORPORATION.)

WEYMOUTH, MASS.

Editor and Manager.

East Weymouth offices: Weymouth Block, corner of Broad and Pleasant Streets. WALTER L. RAYMOND, Manager.

ENTERED AT THE POST OFFICE AT WEYMOUTH, MASS., AS SECOND-CLASS MATTER.

FRIDAY, AUG. 25, 1905.

200,000 people spent Sunday at Revere beach and there was not an arrest for any drunk or misbehavior. Was it owing to the good behavior of the crowd or closed eyes of the police.

In 1862 and 1863 the people of New Orleans were saying bad things about Gen. B. F. Butler; they are now calling for some man of his caliber to put the yellow-fever city in the sanitary condition which he made.

Munson Walsh, the reckless automobile driver who has been repeatedly fined for violation of law and order, paid his last fine at Newark on Saturday. He paid all he had and that was his life; Commissions are necessary.

It has been discovered that a good cow which will give about 100 gallons of milk a day and the milk is nutritious and palatable, but as few people about here have a cow while, or even a cow while pasture, this discovery will hardly relieve the local milk famine.

Wacham appropriated $1,200 and placed it in the hands of a committee to suppress the liquor traffic. The $1,200 is all gone; there has been one conviction and the people are now asking if the price paid was not in excess of the results obtained.

$200,000.00 isn't much money to talk about if you say it quick; and that seems to be the point of difference now existing with the people diplomats at Portsmouth, it would be well for one side or the other to "say it quick" and end the little difficulty.

Four hundred Tuscany flies from Italy, which are said to be death on gipsy moths, are now stored in Malden and will be let loose in the early spring. Let us hope we have not introduced a new pest which will be worse than that which it was introduced to exterminate.

The H. S. Cheeny box with its $25,000 stocks, bonds and other securities which so mysteriously disappeared in February, has shown up at the home of the owner in just the condition he left it and the question now is: did Mr. Cheeny escape paying the tax on account of their absence.

If the fair of the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial Society which opens Friday on the grounds at South Weymouth, is as good as the souvenir book just gotten out through the efforts of H. B. Reed, it will be an event worthy of more than ordinary mention. The illustrations are especially fine and convey much valuable historic information. The ads. with which it abounds are suggestive of large business industries and the book will no doubt be sought after and preserved. Do not forget the fair which is scheduled for Friday, Saturday and Monday, the 1st, 2d and 4th of September.

Church Services.

Under this heading we have tried to give our readers a fairly correct directory of the churches in Weymouth and a few in Braintree with the time of regular and any special services.

During the summer vacation we realize that through no fault of ours, unless it has been a fault to have used it at all, it has been far from correct and at times quite misleading.

For the purpose of revising we omit the list this week and will try next week to have a revised and complete publication of church services and the operation of the several pastors in this work.

Prohibition Caucus.

The Prohibition party of Weymouth will hold a caucus in Temple of Honor hall, E. Weymouth, Monday evening for the purpose of electing delegates to the State convention to be held in Park Street church, Boston, Thursday, Sept. 14th, at 10:30 a.m. Also to elect delegates to all other conventions. The call for this caucus is signed by George W. Dyer, chairman, and L. W. Cain, secretary.

Resolutions, W. R. C.

At a regular meeting of Reynolds Corps No. 102, held Aug. 8, 1905, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the Most High to remove from our midst the late brother, Wilmer W. Blackmar, Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic; and

Whereas, it is but just that a fitting recognition of his many virtues should be had; therefore be it

Resolved, By Reynolds Corps No. 102, on the records of the Woman's Relief Corps, that while we bow with humble submission to the will of God, we do not the less mourn for our brother who has been taken from us.

Resolved, That it is but a just tribute to the memory of Gen. Blackmar to say, that in regretting his removal from our midst, we mourn for one who was, in every way, worthy of our love and respect.

An active member of the Grand Army of the Republic's honored leaders—whose almost superhuman exertion for its welfare and prosperity, a friend and companion who was dear to us all, a citizen whose upright and noble life was a standard of emulation to his fellows.

Resolved, That we tenderly sympathize with the family of the deceased and commend them for consolation to him who "toucheth all things well" and whose charisms are meant in mercy.

Resolved, That this heartfelt testimonial of our sympathy be forwarded to the widow of our departed friend by the Secretary of this meeting.

PEOPLE'S COLUMN

The column under this title will give to the public news of any and all subjects, the management of the paper distinctly disclaiming all responsibility for the opinions here expressed.

South Weymouth, Aug. 18, 1905.

To the Editor, Weymouth Gazette: As there was nothing doing in the church last Saturday I took up the first time that came along with the Sunday paper—the Boston Herald, and as my eye fell on Weymouth, in big letters I felt instinctively that the very worst had happened, for the papers of the Hub never bring Weymouth to the front for anything short of murder, and this proved to be the case.

The Weymouth band was "sunburnt" and the Weymouth Agricultural and Industrial society was boycotted by the Brockton Musical Union. Well, I exclaimed, we have at last arrived! With belligerence and with Lawson, with Japanese and Russian, with the Chinese boycott against our own beloved Union, we are evidently in it, on the first page. You know I have been busy for the past couple of months getting out the past programme for the fair, the chief aim being to give publicity to our show, and now, after I am "all in" here come advertising with a vengeance, and so free—so you can hardly blame me for kicking, with the wind all out of my sail. After I have said all in my programme that the Agricultural and Industrial society is the only organization in this vicinity in which all kinds of people have worked together in peace and harmony, the records showing that a good deacon, who gave us the "cold shoulder" at the start, was afterwards converted and served as clerk of the horse races; and after I have shown that the Weymouth band had been a main feature of our show for forty years, now comes along a walking delegation from Brockton and kicks off the pavilion. What ails? Why Castile's American band, and the Boys' orchestra, the Mandolin club, and all the rest will soon hear from Brockton.

Wilson Walsh, the reckless automobile driver who has been repeatedly fined for violation of law and order, paid his last fine at Newark on Saturday. He paid all he had and that was his life; Commissions are necessary.

It has been discovered that a good cow which will give about 100 gallons of milk a day and the milk is nutritious and palatable, but as few people about here have a cow while, or even a cow while pasture, this discovery will hardly relieve the local milk famine.

ILLUMINATION AT HOME.

Immaculate Conception Society of East Weymouth Hold a Festive Occasion.

Instead of having its usual summer outing at Downer Landing, the management of the Immaculate Conception Society of East Weymouth decided this year to hold the festivities on their own grounds and the idea was a capital one as grounds are ample, extending from the parochial residence on Commercial Street to the church edifice on Broad Street. Well arranged plans were made for afternoon and evening events on Saturday and the plans as carried out proved that Fathers Allison and Lynch made no mistake.

For two or three days before the event men were at work under their direction getting the grounds ready. Electric light poles were erected from which wires were strung about the grounds. Seats were arranged about the grounds and several lawn swings placed at suitable points on the place provided amusement for young and old.

In the afternoon the younger generation held sway and they enjoyed themselves immensely. The boys played baseball and the girls played games suited to their taste. Various attractions were there.

Now the truth is, we, the Agricultural society, acknowledge ourselves to be poor and needy, and we are bravely trying to be honest and let the world know our story.

As night began to fall, the electric light and the Japanese lanterns began to show forth and the grounds the grounds presented a very pretty appearance from the street. The principal attraction of the evening was a larch board constructed for the occasion where the young people made music. Music was furnished by Des Lourdes orchestra of eight pieces. All the other attractions were in full swing and it was 11 o'clock when the orchestra struck up the strains of "Home Sweet Home" reminding those present that it was time to go home. It was then that they appreciated their home location as they were not obliged to take a long car ride in finishing a day of rare enjoyment.

There were other tables in charge of the ladies which attracted considerable attention and secured a large patronage.

After two weeks' vacation the church opened again last Sunday, owing to the fact that this was one of the two protestant churches in town open, the other being St. Paul's. Sunday morning preaching service at 10:30 a.m.; Sunday School session at 11:45; Sunday evening service at 7:30; Tuesday evening service at 7:45.

Several of those who attended the services last Sunday took the opportunity to look through the church and all expressed great satisfaction at the completeness and good taste with which it was constructed and furnished.

We used to open our annual fair with prayer by the clergy, but times have changed. Deity, we pray, address ourselves now to the Weymouth Musicians' Union and get their blessing before we go ahead with our annual fair. Well, we don't want to give up our annual fair, so we have to make do with the help of Weymouth sheoemakers, and that they are growing awfully fast. So we have to make do with what we have.

As far as we are concerned, we have to make do with the help of Weymouth sheoemakers, and that they are growing awfully fast. So we have to make do with what we have.

World War is over, so we have to make do with the help of Weymouth sheoemakers, and that they are growing awfully fast. So we have to make do with what we have.
